

BOB MARGOLIN - DEEP BLUES

Bob is prominent in today's Blues scene. He tours worldwide at festivals, concerts, clubs and workshops.

His self-titled album reveals the latest from the 2017 Blues Music Award winner for Best Male Traditional Blues Artist. Released Oct. 12, 2018 by the VizzTone Label Group (Bob is a founding partner), six new original songs are his Blues for today's world. He also interprets nine songs he learned "back in the day" from his legendary friends Muddy Waters, The Band, Johnny Winter, Jimmy Rogers, Snooky Pryor, Pinetop Perkins and James Cotton. Bob played and sang every note, produced, recorded and mixed this album.

In early 2017 Bob was featured on The Last Waltz 40 Tour, celebrating the movie and concert. Bob led songs played with Warren Haynes, Don Was, Jamey Johnson, Taj Mahal, Dr. John, Michael McDonald, Garth Hudson, and more. Bob was in the original 1976 Last Waltz concert and film, playing with Muddy Waters and The Band.

In 2018 and 2019 Bob will be performing:

- with the Bob Margolin Trio
- with the Bobs of the Blues - Bob Corritore & Bob Stroger
- Guesting with other bands, making a stronger billing than separately
- Solo

"Heaven Mississippi" from My Road

From 1973-'80 Bob played guitar in Muddy Waters' band, appearing on all the albums Muddy made then and at special shows like The Last Waltz. Since 1980, Bob performs his own songs, but still honors his historic and personal connection to Muddy Waters.

"After nearly 50 years of playing the Blues, Margolin should be bestowed with the 'icon' title. He's not just a link to many blues artists now gone from this world...but continues to breathe new life into the genre. Be sure to follow Margolin down his own personal Blues Highway by repeatedly listening to My Road. You won't regret it." (Bill Mitchell/BluesBytes)
